Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

30 January 1975

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WASHINGTON, D C -- Rep Kika de la Garza was named Thursday to three subcommittees of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, of which he has been a member since 1971.

The South Texas Congressman will serve on subcommittees on Fisheries and Wildlife Conservation and the Environment, Coast Guard and Navigation, and Oceanography.

"These three panels consider legislation involving matters of the utmost importance to South Texas," Congressman de la Garza said, "and I feel they offer a great opportunity for worthwhile service."

The Congressman was eligible to become chairman of the Coast Guard and Navigation Subcommittee except for a new rule that permits a member of the House to act as chairman of only one major panel.

"I chose to become chairman of the Agriculture Subcommittee that has oversight responsibility for all operations and functions of the U S Department of Agriculture," he explained. "This is a key Federal department so far as our area is concerned."
